BACCALAUREATE SERMON TO HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

The assembly room of the high-school was filled Sunday afternoon when Rev. M. B. Young of the Methodist church delivered the baccalaureate address to the graduating class. A double quartet of boys rendered two songs and Mr.
Carrington sang a solo.

Mr. Young spoke in part, as follows:

Text: "Their Works do Follow Them." Rev. 14:13 Perhaps you have usually thought of this text as referring to the next world, but it also speaks to us a fundamental law which concerns us all very vitally right here today. As young people we are most interested in life here, in the present and the more immediate future, and it is this I wish to emphasize to you.

You have recently had a decided proof of this text. At the end of each school term you have had a joyous season, a time of rest and the professor writes those ten questions on the board. Some of the students read the first question and immediately begin to write. They read the second and so on until all the ten questions are answered. They hand in their paper and pass out. These have been attending to business since school opened, and their works have followed them into the examination room and they will continue to follow them forever. Then there are other students who read the first question, frown and look around to see what others are doing and then hastily draw a sketch on a pad by their side. Then they sharpen a pencil, read the next question, frown again and look around. Did you ever know of anything like this? These students have been frowning at lessons, looking around and drawing sketches all the year and their works have followed them.

You have accomplished something of lasting value. Every bit of good work you have done in these four years will follow you all of your life; and if you have done any shabby work that will follow you too. I suspect, some who started out with you so earnest to do well surprise that it is hard work to study and have dropped out and gotten a job. If this be true, the chances are that these who have a "head rest" of their lives except the time between jobs when they are looking for a job.

Some of you are thinking of going to college.
It is nice to have a check passed out each month, but if you deny yourself a college education simply because your father can't do this, you have not yet realized your opportunity.

Many young people to whom I have said, "I begin my life when I settle down." The things you do today will follow you all your life.
Anyone will fight for his life, yet here are young men in this town tossing their lives away in play. Your time is valuable. It is limited.
Time is the stuff of which life is made. There is much truth in the proverb, "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," but there is another more modern one I would have you put with it: "When you play, play hard, and when you work, don't stop." This is the key to success. You must give your best to everything you do.

This text tells us to guard our habits. Within a few years most of the habits you have formed will be fixed. It is to follow you. mold your character, fix your position in life and determine your destiny. Some of you have formed habits in these four years which will lead you to success, and those some of you have formed which will lead you to ruin.

In terms of psychology, habits are roots. A railroad is a scientifically constructed rut. Destruction and success are determined by the habits you form. You are constructing a rut in which you must run all your life. It will pay you to study the psychology of habit and construct your rut scientifically.

Do not look at the man who has made his way he is lucky; read his biography and you will see that he is there because his works have followed him.

We are sometimes in danger of excusing ourselves for not doing as well as the other fellow by saying, "He is a natural born genius." Now I realize that genius is more than an infinite capacity for hard work, but the truth of which this definition is born is, that practically every genius in the world has been an industrious and a tremendous worker. Montgomery, "The Farmer Painter," said "Genius begins with aspiration followed by inspiration and determination, and culminates in perseverance."

You may never be known as a genius; you may never have much money; but remember that "it is a greater task to make a life than to make a living, and remind yourself every day that what you are to be you are now becoming."

SENIORS ARE WINNERS IN ATHLETIC CARNIVAL.

The athletic carnival held on the highschool grounds Saturday was successful in every way, and is the beginning of class activities which is bound to be beneficial.
Considerable interest was manifested by the parents and friends who were present to witness the events.

Due to the late beginning, there was not sufficient time left to run off all the events, although everything was carried out with the exception of two basketball games.

The senior class, particularly represented by Koop and MacNeill, carried off the greatest number of points, 71, with the sophomore class a close second with 67 points; freshman class 36, junior class 6.

The regular card party of the Woman's club will take place next Tuesday evening at the club house.
Two prizes will be awarded the winners.

STEPS IN FRONT OF MACHINE AND IS FATALITY INJURED

Addison Havens, the musician, who was run over by an automobile Friday evening near the Home of Peace cemetery, died Sunday night at the central emergency hospital in San Francisco.

The car was driven by John Mc-Donald, son of Andrew McDonald, the gardener employed by the San Mateo County P. E. E. Commission. The accident was entirely unavoidable. Havens stepped directly in front of the machine and the driver did everything possible to prevent striking him.

Havens was taken at once to St.
Luke's hospital in McDonald's car and was there given every medical attention possible. He was later removed to the emergency hospital where he died the following night.

H. C. Tuckson of the San Mateo County Commission called at the emergency hospital as soon as the news of the accident reached him and proffered every assistance possible on the part of San Mateo county.

EUROPEAN WAR DELAYS LOCAL MAIL DELIVERY

In answer to a letter addressed to the Postal Department at Washington asking for information regarding the delivery of mail in this city, Postmaster Swift has been assured that the service will be installed as soon as affairs in the department, which are now unsettled on account of the European war, become normal.

The Postmaster-General says in his communication that all of the preliminaries have been arranged and that Redwood City is in line for mail delivery as soon as it is possible to proceed with its installation. The Department regrets that the deplorable conditions resulting from the war should cause the people of this city such inconvenience and it is hoped they will soon be at an end.

ESCAPES SERIOUS INJURY WHEN RUN OVER BY TRUCK

Charles Barton, city plumbing inspector, had a very fortunate escape from serious and perhaps fatal injury Saturday evening, when he was run over by a heavy five-ton auto truck belonging to T. P. Maloney.

The accident occurred on Broadway. Barton was standing up in the back of the machine, when a sudden reversing of the engine caused him to be thrown out of the hind end of the truck. The machine backed up and one of the hind wheels passed over his chest and shoulder and the other across the lower part of his leg. An examination by Dr. Ross showed no broken bones nor internal injuries.
Mr. Barton was painfully bruised, however, and will be laid up for some little time.

WOODSIDE ASKS FOR RURAL MAIL SERVICE

Since the closing of the post office at Woodside the residents of that village have had a very poor mail service and steps have been taken to have the rural delivery extended so as to serve the former patrons of the post office.

Much of the mail is now forwarded to private individuals for delivery, while some receive their mail at the post office in this city.

A petition, signed by nearly one hundred residents in the thickly populated parts of the village, asking for rural service, has been forwarded to the department, and action is expected within a short time.

Supervisor MacEhin has promised to make such improvements in and about Woodside as will assist in giving the people the mail delivery they are asking, and it is believed the improved service will not be long delayed.

The winner of the lot in Redwood Highlands, donated to the Floral Festival by the George H.
Irving Company, will be announced at the Bell theatre Saturday evening.

in the guessing contest conducted by E. P. Heise, the grocer, last week. Gus guessed the exact weight of the big sack, 136 1/4 pounds. Eddie Olson made the was given a twenty-five pound sack of flour. James T. O'Keefe

PRESENCE OF MIND SAVES HAROLD MITCHELL'S LIFE

Harold Mitchell, son of George Mitchell, the contractor, had a miraculous escape from death Sunday morning. He attempted to board the 7:40 a. m. train for San Francisco, while in motion, and losing his balance, fell and rolled underneath the hind coach. He had presence of mind enough to throw himself clear of the wheels, but one of the brake beams struck him and he was dragged along the ground for a considerable distance.

It was thought at first that young Mitchell had received a fractured skull, but an examination by Drs. Ross and Chapin showed that the injury consisted of a very severe laceration of the scalp.

PRETTY MOUNTAIN ROMANCE ENDS AT HYMNAL ALTAR

A pretty wedding took place in San Francisco on Wednesday evening when Miss Edith Allen Glenman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Glenman of this city, and A. B. Maguire, Jr., of San Francisco, were made one by Father Collins. The marriage is the happy culmination of a pretty romance began under the tall redwoods of La Honda several years ago, when Miss Glenman and Mr. Maguire were children. The Glenmans always camp at La Honda during the summer months and in a near by camp was usually occupied by the Maguires and here the romance had its inception. The young folks romped about their friendship ripened into love as they grew older. Year after year they met in the summer time at La Honda, finally plighting their troth. She met with wonderful success in her calling, having for patients some of the prominent people of the state. For the past six months she has been busy attending cases in Redwood City. New Business Career.

The price of the excellent stock has been greatly reduced by the young man who will conduct a strictly cash business. Young Marcus has a good business experience, having grown up in his father's big department store here and besides this training he has spent the greater portion of his vacations during the past four years in the wholesale shoe store of his uncle in San Francisco so that the shoe business is no new line to him. With the splendid education and his career at the high school and his business training, the young man is well equipped to begin life's battle.

The clearance sale of the Einstein shoe stock begins this morning. There will be some special bargains as the entire old stock is to be cleared out to make room for new goods.

SEQUOIA GRADUATES RECEIVE DIPLOMAS

Closing Exercises of Sequoia High School Held at Alhambra Friday Evening.

The seventeenth annual commencement of the Sequoia Union High school took place in the Alhambra theater last evening. Long before the hour set for the opening number of the program the hall was crowded with parents and friends of the school eager to hear the interesting program, all the numbers of which were well rendered and drew forth hearty applause from the large audience. Professor Edwin R. Snyder, Commissioner of Industrial and Vocational Education, of Sacramento delivered the speech of the evening. He is an able and eloquent speaker. The professor dwelt at some length upon the benefit of education and paid a glowing tribute to the high schools of the state showing what part they played in our educational system. He spoke for fully an hour and was attentively listened to. The vocal music by Professor O. M. Carrington was heartily applauded. He was in good voice and his sweet melodies were fully appreciated in prolonged hand clapping by his enthusiastic admirers. Miss Ruth Mantz, daughter of Principal Mantz of the grammar school delivered the valedictory in a clear ringing voice. The young lady was perfectly at home on the stage delivering her address in a manner that would do credit to one with more experience on the rostrum. The following are a few excerpts from her well-written essay:

"Since the earliest dawn of civilization, it has been the aim of the prophets among men to elevate man to the highest in life. From the time of the Greek philosophers, men have thought of the highest as composed of the Good, the Beautiful, and the True and they have thought of these three as one, and to live up to their interpretation of the highest in life, they have always emphasized one more than the others, and the nations of the world have never yet been able to yield the three into a unified whole. The Hebrews emphasized the Good as the highest ideal in life; but because it was untempered by art and science, it became exclusive piety—the righteousness of the scribes and the Pharisees—and its effect was seen in the dispersion of the nation. The Greeks emphasized the Beautiful; but because unity was disregarded, their power disappeared. The Romans emphasized the True as they conceived it, under the form of law, but the law was enforced, regardless of life, and of the love of fellow men, and Rome decayed.

"The desire of every nation, of every organization of men, of every individual man, has been the same, either consciously or unconsciously, to reach the highest in life. The medium used has been different, but the desire has been identical. Today, America is standing this supreme enterprise through the medium of education, and by education she hopes to bring in the reign of the Good, the Beautiful, and the True.

"Individuals, like nations, differ. They may be fundamentally the same, but the best in them must be brought out, and they must be brought into their highest self-realization by different means. Some may be reached most easily by music, others may be reached by poetry, still others, by the appeal of beauty through the eye in the form of art. The message is the same; it is only the expression, the medium, that is different.

"Two potters may take clay from the same bed. One may make a common clay pot that never can be anything but clay. The other may fashion a vase, beautiful in form and design and expression. The crude vase is an object neither of beauty nor inspiration. It can add nothing to the hopefulness or efficiency of the world—better had it never been made. But the beautiful vase—the one that has been formed with careful, skillful fingers—beautiful in form, color and design—a work which embodies a spirit, will inspire men as long as it endures, because it is a thing of beauty.

"Yet in spite of this fundamental, far reaching difference in result, it takes a more clay, no more color, or more time or energy to make a beautiful vase than an ugly one. "And so as we of the class of 1915 go out into life's work, two ways before us. One is symbolized by the visionless potter who not only fails to realize his ideal, but who fails to realize the beauty into his work. The other way is symbolized by the careful, skillful potter, who builds not only for utility, but who fills the needs of every day life, but that it may also be beautiful—that it may live to make the world better. And so we go out upon our different ways with heart-felt appreciation for the ideals that have been held before us during the past years of our school career. Whether we embody these ideals in our every day life, rests with us. For it is not the mere words of gratitude spoken at the present time that are of first importance, it is rather the embodiment of our appreciation in our lives. And if in our every day lives, we give expression to those ideals that have been continually held before us, it will be truer homely than any words that we can speak. And so, it rests with us whether we add not only to the efficiency of the world, but by the expression of our ideals, whether we add also to its happiness and beauty, for we may all be artists in that greatest of all arts—the art of life and living."

The salutatory was delivered by Miss Freda Barg in a sweet girlish manner.

REDWOOD CITY DAY AT THE EXPOSITION

Plans Being Prepared for Great Water Excursion and Day at the Big Exhibition

Wednesday, June 23rd, is to be "Redwood City Day" at the Panama-Pacific Exposition and the day is to be made one of special interest to residents of Redwood City and its vicinity. This much was decided upon at the meeting of the special committee appointed at the last meeting of the Board of Trade by President Stuart Frank to take charge of the arrangements for this important occasion.

The committee met Monday evening in the committee room of the council at the city hall. After much persuasion, President Frank of the Board of Trade was induced to add to his other public cares the general supervision of the arrangements for the big excursion and was made chairman of the committee.

While so far the arrangements for the day's outing, which will be one calculated to give the maximum of pleasure at the minimum of cost, are in a measure tentative, enough was decided upon to make it certain that in many of its features the excursion will be decidedly unique. It is proposed to secure for the trip to San Francisco a commodious and fast steamer, capable of accommodating about 100 passengers. The plan is to have this steamer leave from a temporary dock to be provided for the purpose on the water front of the Redwood City Harbor Company, where sufficient deep water may be found at any hour of the day to accommodate a large vessel. The excursionists will be taken out to the embarking place over the spur tracks of the Harbor Company, out Chesnut street.

The trip to San Francisco will allow of ample time for the partaking of a picnic lunch on the steamer before arrival at the Exposition grounds, thus giving the excursionists the advantage of a full afternoon and evening at the exposition. For the return trip, it is planned to so arrange that all who desire may enjoy the novelty of an evening ride on some of the large motor buses, which will be induced to make a special trip to this city from the Exposition grounds for this purpose. Several other special features for the day are under consideration by the committee and will probably be announced during the coming week.

PIONEER DRUGGIST WILL RETIRE FROM BUSINESS

The Pioneer Drug Store, the oldest pharmacy in San Mateo county, was sold yesterday by the A. D. Walsh Company to C. H. Young of Petaluma. The new proprietor will take over the property on June 1st. The store was established nearly fifty years ago by Dr. Merrill, at one time county treasurer. A. D. Walsh began clerking in the establishment as a boy 37 years ago. He was clerk for seven years and proprietor for 30. In 1878 the store was bought by Mr. Frisbie, and sold in 1884 to H. J. Finger, now of Santa Barbara, he selling it shortly after to A. D. Walsh, who incorporated the business in 1908, the stockholders being Will King, Mr. and Mrs. Walsh. Mr. Walsh intends to retire from active business. He is a stockholder and an official in many corporations in this city and his attention to these duties will take up his leisure moments. The purchase price of the store is not known, but it is believed it was nearly $10,000. Mr. Young, the new proprietor, is an experienced pharmacist.

It was brief but eloquent and to the point. Miss Barg's effort was loudly applauded. Professor S. F. McCrea, principal of the high school spoke for half an hour upon the work of the high school during the past ten years. He was enthusiastic in praise of the accomplishments of the institution during the period and predicted greater success for it during the years that are to follow.

Superintendent of Schools, Roy W. Cloud, on behalf of the trustees, delivered a well-timed and able address to the graduates, pointing out to them the temptation they would have to resist in life's battle to which they were about to enter. Mr. Cloud gave to the young men and women some able advice and counseled them concerning their adherence to the teachings of their school. Mr. Cloud then presented the following graduates with their diplomas:

DOINGS ABOUT THE COUNTY OFFICES

Matters of General Interest to Litigants Culled from the Public Records.

The divorce case of Annie Pingel against her husband, Leo Pingel, was on trial before Judge Buck last Wednesday. Attorneys Ross & Ross representing Mrs. Pingel, and Joseph J. Bullock and J. E. McCurdy representing Mr. Pingel. The greater portion of the trial was taken up by the introduction of testimony relative to the ownership of certain valuable property situated at Burlingame, acquired by the parties during their marriage, and which is now claimed by the wife as her sole property. The evidence seemed to disclose the fact that Mrs. Pingel was the family treasurer and Pingel claims that his earnings constituted the purchase money of the property in dispute. Evidence both ways was introduced and the case submitted to the court.

Coburn filed the suit but did not prosecute same as is required by law.

New Actions in Superior Court.

The Dowing Estate Company has brought foreclosure proceedings in the Superior Court against the Tunitas Glen Land Company to recover the sum of $5000 on a promissory note secured by the mortgage. The note was executed in Oakland on December 30, 1910. The property on which the mortgage is to be foreclosed consists of 350 acres of land located on the coast side of the county. Plaintiff also asks for interest at the rate of seven per cent per annum from October 10, 1913, costs of suit and attorney fees in the sum of $250.

Wants Care of Incompetent.

Richard Campbell has applied in the Superior Court for letters of guardianship upon the person and estate of Margaret Campbell, an incompetent person. Mrs. Campbell was committed to the Insane Asylum at Napa from San Francisco in 1885 and has been confined there ever since. Josephine Campbell, a daughter, died in San Francisco on April 17, leaving an estate valued at $1675.08. Miss Campbell died intestate, leaving no children, husband or father. The estate is about to be distributed and Margaret A. Gainer, the administratrix, has the sum of $1675.08 in her possession, ready to be turned over to the guardian when he is appointed. Mrs.

Campbell is the lawful heir to the estate. The petitioner, is a son of Mrs. Campbell, the other children of the incompetent, Mrs. Mary Dougherty, Annie Murphy, and Margaret A. Gainer, John and G. Campbell, consent to the appointment of the petitioner. The petition will be heard on June 10.

Divorce Action Submitted.

Judge Buck has entered an order granting to the plaintiff in the case of McCarthy vs. McCarthy alimony and counsel fees, and has appointed a receiver to carry out the order of the court, and to collect the rent and pay the alimony and counsel. Dr. McCarthy, the defendant, left his large practice in San Francisco over a year ago and went to Bombay, leaving his wife and minor child. She began suit for divorce on the grounds of desertion and cruelty. Before he left he attempted to dispose of his property, but a restraining order from the court prevented him from doing this. The matter has been dragging along through the courts for over a year. She is represented by Samuel M. Shortridge and James T. O'Keefe. The defendant did not appear in the case.

Claim of Expert Compromised.

Judge Buck on Thursday dismissed the mandamus proceedings begun in the Superior Court some weeks ago by County Auditor J. J. Shields against County Engineer E. J. White. Shields objected to the charge of $340 filed by the expert for examining the books of the various county officers. Mr. White made a charge of $10 a day for the work, consuming 34 days in completing the task. Mr. Shields held that the charge was exorbitant and would not audit the claim. The supervisors had allowed claims amounting to $920, one of which was for $750 for installing a new accounting system in the auditor's office and another for work on the school funds account and another for $80 for expediting the treasurer's accounts.

After many consultations between District Attorney Franklin Swart and the attorneys representing Mr. White, a compromise has been arranged and a reduction of $250 from the disputed claim has been made by the expert accountant. By the terms of the agreement $250 is deducted from the $750 claim, and claims amounting to over $500 are still awaiting the approval of the supervisors.

Orders in Superior Court.

Annie M. Perley vs. S. H. Perley, Motion and trial continued to June 10.

E. J. White vs. J. J. Shields, Petition for writ of mandamus dropped from calendar.

The father of the minors is dead and the mother, Elizabeth Kakewell, consents to have Mrs. Lang appointed guardian, she being a friend of the Kakewell family. The estate consists of a one-sixth interest in certain personal property, consisting of household furniture, automobile, garage, horses, harness, etc. and a one-sixth interest in certain lots in Easton Addition to Burlingame, and a one-third interest in lot letter L, block 6, Burlingame. The petition will be heard on June 3d.

Ella H. Talbott has applied for letters of administration upon the estate of her husband, William Talbott who died at Daly City on May 4, 1915. The estate consists of lots 50 and 51, block D, Mission Street Extension valued at $800, lot 7, block 8, Hillcrest (Daly City) worth $100 and furniture valued at $600. The entire value of the estate does not exceed the sum of $1500. The heirs at law are the petitioner, Marshall A. Talbott, a son aged 24 residing at Santa Barbara, Ruth E. Talbott, aged 20 a daughter living at Daly City, and James H. Talbott, aged 19, a son living at Daly City.

Harry J. Mahony has filed the last will and testament of Henry S. Krieg, who died in San Francisco on April 25, 1915, and has asked for letters testamentary thereon. The estate consists of 100 feet of land on Main street, Redwood City worth $3000 and a tract of land on Lathrop street, Redwood City, worth $1500, cash in bank amounting to $300 and an assortment of personal effects of small value. The will was executed on September 20, 1905, the subscribing witnesses being Joseph C. Dickey and D. R. Stafford. H. J. Mahony and Anthony Krieg are appointed executors, but the latter has waived his right to serve and has asked that the petitioner be appointed. The parochial residence of the parish of the Holy Angels is fast looming into notice. It will be a notable addition to our town.

Sunday last, Pentecost, there were special services in the Catholic church under the direction of the pastor, Father M. J. Clifford. Many boys and girls took part in the holy parade around the house of worship. The honor of crowning the Blessed Virgin was awarded to Miss Winifred Cottage. This ceremony was an innovation here.

Assemblyman and Mrs. Henry W. Brown are home from Sacramento. The potato crop is being marketed now. The turnout is not even one-half of what it was last year. The blight and the wind were very destructive.

Last Friday night the graduates of the Coolma school gave their dance in Colma hall. It was a pleasant success. It was a big, good-natured family affair. The graduates in their new dresses and suits, decked with bows of ribbon of their colors, were justly proud of their prominence and in every way conducted themselves becomingly. Backstedt's orchestra supplied the entrancing strains. From eight to twelve, dances followed one after the other, almost without a pause, and even then, there was a desire for more. The seventh graders acted as hostesses and dispensed lemonade and soda water to all who cared to partake. A tidy sum was realized for the day of pleasure.

Next Friday night, May 28, the graduates of Daly City will give their dance in the Municipal Auditorium. It will be a good time, too. All are invited. Don't forget it.

All the people are waiting patiently for the opportunity to vote upon the sanitary districts. The increasing population compels haste in this matter. The cess-pools are overflowing and all fear serious consequences. There was danger and distress enough last year and more can be expected this year. Now is the time to act. It will be too late when the harm is done.

HAPPY LA HONDA.

LA HONDA, May 24—Chief Patterson is authority for the statement that the first detachment of Blanchard and Brown's (the contractors) artillery will arrive this week and now, after the prolonged rainy season will commence offensive operations, leveling the way, cutting away slides and completing our badly needed county highway from Redwood. This is most welcome news for our long suffering community.

Archie Woodhams and young Kendall Towne of Redwood are camping here for a few days.

The usual concert by the La Honda orchestra was held this week at Hotel La Honda.

Mrs. A. B. Clayton is visiting her sister, Mrs. Geo. Steinberg.

Charles Cava'lli has left for a trip to San Joaquin county. He will also extend his travels to Calistoga and Napa valley generally. He goes on business as well as pleasure.

Here they are, and what a jolly bunch—the D. D. Sporting Club of the Mission, San Francisco. The members, Geo. Picken, president; Edw. Mason, P. Corry, Robert S. Keenan, Dennis McNeerney, Wm. Barlow and Walter Williams, spent a pleasant Sunday here. They returned later in the season to select a camp site.

John P. Wells, the angler of Woodside was here for three days this week. There has been so much controversy about his fishing ability, this time, he brought a respectable witness to his skill in the person of Stanley E. Sherwood of San Francisco.

Miss Francis Hefferman, who has spent the past month enjoyably visiting her uncle, James Kane, returned to her home in Boston yesterday.

Miss Alice Dean of Alameda was the week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. Wilson.

A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. A. Jordan of this city Friday.

For Sale—A Baldwin piano, almost new, will be sold for a bargain. Call on Mrs. J. Hutchings, Belmont.

EVERYBODY SOON TO RIDE IN DOUBLE-DECKED AUTOS.

If the plans of the auto bus company who were here from San Francisco last Thursday, are carried out, Redwood City and vicinity will have a double-decked automobile transportation service within a very short time. The matter was fully discussed during a luncheon tendered the visitors and a committee from the Board of Trade in the Sequoia hotel Thursday noon.

According to the plans of the auto company, regular-scheduled trips will be made between San Mateo, Redwood City and Palo Alto. This city will have a local service and trips will be arranged to accommodate those who commute between Redwood and San Francisco, the school children from the out-laying districts and the people from Redwood Highlands, Wellesley Park and other outside points.

Thousands of Farm Hands Wanted

Notice has been received from the Department of Labor at Washington that between 16,000 and 18,000 men will be needed to harvest the grain crop this year in Oklahoma. The farmers prefer English-speaking men and will pay from $2 to $3 per day with board. The harvest will begin during the early weeks of June. Employers and persons seeking work should communicate with C. L. Green, General Inspector, room 212 Post Office building, Kansas City, Missouri.

HEAVY TOURIST TRAVEL DOWN THE PENINSULA.

The report of C. M. Hirschey, the traffic manager employed by the San Mateo County Exposition Company to direct tourist travel down the peninsula during 1915, shows that he has been instrumental in sending up to date, from March 17 to May 16, one hundred and forty-six automobiles, seven hundred and forty-one passengers, at a cost to the county for automobile hire of $228.

Twenty-eight automobiles were rented from the Taxi Company of California at a cost of $546, and $318 were collected from passengers who made the trip down the peninsula.
